Choral Concert to be Big Occasion in Narberth

Fate of Society Depends on Local Support

The Choral Fantasia from Il Trovatore which the Society will render at the next concert contains many of the most familiar choruses of this very popular opera, and the choral work will be supplemented by several of the famous arias sung by Miss Natalina Contino. Miss Contino who has volunteered to assist the local organization, is a young soloist of great promise, now studying with Director Nace in preparation for the San Carlo Opera Company next season. In view of the fact that the role of Leonora is one which she expects to sing with the San Carlo Company, her solos will add greatly to the ensemble of the Il Trovatore selection. The announcement of the incidental soloists from the society membership will be made very soon, and the complete program and arrangement should be ready for publication in the next issue of "Our Town."

Associate and Sustaining Membership tickets will be mailed during the coming week on the regular basis. Admission tickets are now on sale, and may be obtained from any of the active members. A complete canvas is being made of the Borough and it is hoped that no one will be overlooked. This is the last opportunity to hear the Society locally this season, and as explained during the discussion of the past month, a substantial expression of the community's support and interest is anticipated. A full attendance at this concert will encourage the organization in its plans for next season.

Outside invitations which are under consideration by the Board include one for the Main Line Music Week in Ardmore to be held in May, and a similar one during the Philadelphia Music Week at one of the leading moving picture theatres in the city. In the early part of June, the Choral will again sing at the Bryn Mawr Horse Show grounds for the Seamen's Church Institute, and there is a strong possibility of another Atlantic City trip later in that month. Everything points to a very successful season after the close of the local concert program, but the Society desires most of all to feel that it has the united support and endorsement of its own community. Be sure therefore to reserve Saturday night April 21st, and secure your ticket from the first member you see.

Lutheran Church to Hold Concert

Secures New York Artists for April 11th

Music lovers of Narberth will have the pleasure of listening to a Musical Program of Exceptional Merit next Wednesday evening, April 11th, in Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Julia Floyd, Coloratura Soprano of New York, will render two groups of songs selected from programs she has given during an extended concert tour through New England and the South. Commenting on one of her recent concerts, the "New York Evening Mail" says: "Julia Floyd created quite a sensation. Her top coloratura notes are remarkable."

Music critics in many cities comment favorably on her ability as a singer. Miss Ruth McLinn, Concert Pianist, also of New York, will assist at the recital, and render two groups of Piano numbers.

Local interest attaches to the fact that Miss McLinn is the daughter of Rev. M. E. McLinn, pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, and it is only through her interest that this event is made possible.

The proceeds will be devoted to the Church Building Fund. Tickets may be purchased at Crane's Drug Store.

EVANGEL CIRCLE KING'S DAUGHTERS

It's just the last syllable in house-cleaning helps. Ab-so-lutely. Just that. Help us put Narberth on the map by keeping our houses sweet and dust free. We will call on Monday, April 23rd, for cast off laces, china, furniture, etc. Phone Mrs. J. Taylor Darlington, 212 Hampden Ave.

DANCING

Don't forget there will be Kabaret attractions at the Carnival, April 13-14. Miss Augusta Witherow, of Narberth, and Miss Jeanne Davis, of Philadelphia, will sing, and there will be dancing by Miss Marjorie Carter, dancing by the "Wee Tots," and many other attractions. Watch for them.

HARRIS-SIBLEY

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sibley, of 507 Haverford Road, announce the marriage of their daughter Emily H. Sibley to Wayne Snowden Harris, at Elkton, Md., on March 29th. After receiving the family blessings, Mr. and Mrs. Harris went to their new home at 62nd and Spruce Streets. Mrs. Harris is a graduate of Coombs' Conservatory of Music, and is a talented pianist.

GROCERIES

Mrs. W. M. Sibley, of Haverford Road, held a meeting of her committee for the coming of the Community Club Carnival, and each lady on that committee was present. Mrs. Sibley is chairman of the grocery table, and will be very thankful for any donations. After the meeting lunch and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Alan Rose, of Dudley Ave., spent the week-end in Baltimore, Md.

WILLIAM LIVINGSTON

The community was both shocked and grieved last Sunday when it learned of the sudden death of William Livingston at his home, 108 Chestnut Avenue. He was stricken with apoplexy shortly after arising, and died within a half an hour.

Mr. Livingston is survived by his mother, whose home is in Greenwich, Conn., his wife, and three children, Margaret, Douglass, and Philip A. Livingston, who is editor of "Our Town."

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at the Livingston home on Chestnut Avenue, and the service was conducted by Rev. Gibson Bell, of All Saints P. E. Church, which church Mr. Livingston attended. The pall bearers were William E. Boryer, James A. England, James R. Houston, Lloyd B. Edgerton, and Jesse S. Harris, all of Narberth, and Henry E. Reed, of Maplewood, N. J. Interment was made at West Laurel Hill.

Mr. Livingston, who was a direct descendant of Philip Livingston, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, was born in Brooklyn. He came to Narberth, a little over eleven years ago. For many years he had been connected with the American Dyewood Company, and traveled extensively for that concern through the South and Middle West.

Of a quiet and rather retiring disposition in the matter of public and community affairs, Mr. Livingston was that type of citizen who is often misunderstood as apparently having little or no interest in his home town. As a matter of fact—as those who knew him fully appreciated, he was deeply and sincerely interested in the welfare of Narberth, and, in his own unostentatious way he cheerfully and generously gave his support to a number of community organizations. Being a traveler, and very fond of reading he bought a great many books, and since the Community Library has been in existence, he has given all of his newly purchased books to the library. For a number of years he was a member of the Narberth Tennis Association, and while he did not play a great deal he often said that he realized the value of such an organization in a suburban community, and he wanted to help sustain and support it. In a number of other instances he gave similar evidence of how he lived up to his practical ideals of citizenship. He was sincere and genuinely cordial in his friendship, and his many friends will cherish a recollection of that friendship as one of the things that are really worth while in life.

E. A. M.

MRS. FREDERICK E. A. TOWNSEND

The death of Mrs. Frederick E. A. Townsend on Saturday morning last, came as a great shock to her many neighbors and friends in Narberth. Mrs. Townsend will be remembered by all who knew her for her cheery smile and kind word even when she herself was suffering; always thinking of others and forgetting self.

She was a member of St. Luke and The Epiphany Church, where she will be greatly missed. She was also a member of the Ardmore Chapter of The Eastern Star whose members held a most impressive service at the home on Monday evening. Her passing was very peaceful and her suffering of long duration is over. God be with thee until we meet again.

AGAIN NARBERTH LEADS

The Garden Nurseries, on Montgomery Avenue, Narberth, are selling a great many of their oriental flowering trees this season. Among the orders are shipments to Illinois, California, Kansas, Iowa, Michigan, and every State in the East. Among the Parks getting a supply of these trees are the City Parks of Denver, Colorado.

Nurserymen from everywhere are the biggest buyers, and have bought over 20,000 Chinese flowering crab trees for delivery this season. To judge from this, the Main Line will not be the only place where these rare trees may be seen. It will, according to Mr. Wohler, be 20 years before the rest of the country can catch up with Narberth, and the rest of the Main Line in this particular.

ARBOR DAY

April the 13th—the first day of the Community Club Carnival is Arbor Day. Order your plants and shrubs at the plant booth.

Just One Week To Wait For Community Club Carnival

A Good Time In Store For Everybody. Features Beyond Count Are Included

The Carnival to be given by the women of the Community Club will be held next Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening, April 13 and 14, in the Y. M. C. A. Building. The doors will open at 2 P. M., on Friday the 13th.

So get out your new spring hats—we're off to the Carnival. Lock the doors and windows, for you won't be back for a long while. Sure not! Why hurry home when there's so much going on? And besides, Mary and John will be there, and Sue is going to hurry out from the office. Yes we'll all take dinner there. What, didn't you know? There will be—on both Friday and Saturday nights. And the usual supper of cold ham and potato salad will NOT be served! No sir! The women of the Community Club said that a good hot dinner must be served because that's what husbands like, and so there will be hot roast beef and hot muffs and hot coffee, and a hot time all around.

As long as the Carnival comes on Friday and Saturday, you might as well do your weekly marketing there, too.

Plenty of Things to Buy

You know Mrs. Sibley, don't you? Well she's going to sell groceries, and when she says that anything you ask for will be there on her table, you may believe it.

And we might as well buy our Sunday cake at the Carnival, too, for Mrs. Mueller, who makes excellent cake, will be in charge of the cake table, and she will be ably assisted by the best cake bakers in Narberth.

As for candy—well, you can tell John he needn't bring home the usual box from town next week, for you intend to go some of the famous Ruch-Atherholt home-made variety at the Carnival. If you don't know how wonderfully good that is, all we've got to say is, "Ask any of the Ruch-Atherholt's next door neighbors and see them roll their eyes and look as though somebody had just left them a million dollars." So take no chances and place your orders early.

You know, don't you, that there will be a Kiddie Korner? That's what it's called—a Korner where you can buy toys for the children and those lovely hand-made dresses that Mrs. Gilpin and her sister Mrs. Haist make so beautifully. It is quite unusual to find so many talented women in one group, but the Community Club always seems to have some one especially equipped for any work that presents itself.

Saturday afternoon will probably be the biggest time of all at the Carnival, for at 3:30 P. M., there will be the

Baby Show

A walk around Narberth on any nice spring-like afternoon when the mothers are out with their coaches will prove to any one that our town is a town of babies. And so all the mothers, and all the fathers, and all the friends, and all the neighbors who are fond of Alice or Mary or James or Anna will be out to see Narberth's showing of a future generation.

We saw a little girl the other day who stands a good chance of winning that prize for freckles. So the little boys had better look to their laurels. All and all, there are so many healthy babies who are thriving on Narberth air, and growing prettier every day under the Narberth sunshine, that it will be some work for those judges to decide on the very healthiest and the very prettiest.

Just as a last reminder, any mother wanting information about the Baby Show can get it by telephoning to Mrs. H. I. McConnell, 1054 R, or Mrs. C. A. Farmer, 341 M. And once more, here are the six classes and thirteen prizes:

- Class A—babies up to 1 year; prize for the prettiest girl; prize for the prettiest boy.
- Class B—babies from 1 to 2 years; prize for the prettiest girl; prize for the prettiest boy.
- Class C—babies from 2 to 3 years; prize for the prettiest girl; prize for the prettiest boy.
- (Grouping all babies in Classes A, B and C together, these awards will be made: prize for the youngest; prize for the fastest; prize for the cutest; and a special prize for the healthiest.)
- Class D—Children from 3 to 6 years;

any dress class, prize for the best costumed child.

Class E—Twins under 6 years, prize for the most attractive.

Class F—Children from 6 to 10 years, prize for the most freckled.

In registering your children there are just two things to remember—no child can be registered in more than one class, and the registration fee is (25) cents, which includes the Mother's admission.

This Carnival seems to be the biggest affair ever given in Narberth. There will be so many things going on all at once that nobody will want to take time to go home and come back again for fear that they will miss something. That's another reason why you will appreciate the fine hot cafeteria service both evenings.

By the way, Mrs. Peano has arranged to have an orchestra of several pieces and there will be on both nights. But if you don't want to dance all the time there will be games to play between dances. Mrs. Anderson has promised prizes for those games, and—well, "you know me Al" when it comes to prizes, you'll sure be there at the finish! That's the spirit!

Any way you look at it this Carnival looks mighty good, and knowing the good work that the Women's Community Club has done, and is doing for the town, everybody will be out for the big party next Friday and Saturday, to enjoy the fun and to help swell the Club Building Fund, and make April 13 and 14 two days to be remembered in the history of Narberth.

AT THE KIDDIE KORNER

All the girls will be interested in the lovely auburn-haired lady doll that is to be at the Carnival Kiddie Korner, and the boys, and girls, too, must not miss Charlie Chaplin.

TERPSICHOEBAN REVELS

King Tut's tomb held no more surprises than the next dance of the Tennis Club holds for those fortunate enough to attend. The committee in charge states there will be an orchestra of wide repute, novelty dances, unique decorations, and many attractions and refinements to further the pleasure of their guests.

In order to correct the false impression that the dances are for members only, the committee have requested each member to mail the name and address of one or more couples they would sponsor, and cordial invitations will be forwarded, requesting that they attend these joyous affairs.

One of the novelties at the last Hop was in the form of a balloon dance, and the Lady (Mrs. Agility M.) who won the 5 pound box of chocolates donated by Mr. John Wine, forwarded him, in acknowledgment of the prize, a poem, from which we print a verse: "We spent an evening full of pleasure,

And had returned in double measure,

Recompense in an evening well spent, And to come again is our intent.

Again I graciously thank the donor." They call the President of the club "Bill" Evans, but W. D. R. must stand for Welcome, Delightfully, Royal, Evans, as he is never happier than when a host. Looks as if the host and his new Reception Committee are going to be mighty busy the night of the next dance, Sat., April 21st.

Midnight comes all too soon.

See! ah!

STREET PAVING

To the Editor of "Our Town":

The Editorial in last week's issue of "Our Town" we read upon conversation with several of our citizens, was misleading. And this was so because the data presented was not in accordance with the facts.

The impression was conveyed that the twelve or more miles of the paved streets of Narberth were gaved by the Borough, and paid for out of the "current revenue." The facts are that practically all of the paving was done by bond issue authorized by the voters of the Borough and not out of "current funds."

The idea was also conveyed that the policy of paving streets at the Borough's expense was a practice long since abandoned on account of the enactment of a state law prohibiting paving of streets out of current revenues. This law, as a matter of fact, was enacted only four years ago, and since practically all of the paving in Narberth was done by bond issue and not out of "current funds" this legislation, accordingly, in no manner affects the policy pursued by Narberth throughout all these years and practically up to the present time.

Neither is it a fair analogy to question the possibility of floating a bond issue for the paving of streets as the necessity indicates by comparing this proposition with the recently proposed and defeated school loan. Everyone knows that that proposal was defeated because it was believed that if it were authorized the School Board would not effect the much desired consolidation of our High School with Lower Merion.

Yes, Woodbine Avenue from Narberth to Essex is unsightly. That portion of Woodbine Avenue extending from Narberth Avenue to Montgomery Avenue was paid for out of the Borough Treasury. Why not that section extending from Narberth Avenue to Essex Avenue? Why should the Borough pay for one portion of it and require the abutting property owners to pay for the remaining part? The argument that is would enhance the owners' property value, and therefore should be paid for by them is pure sophistry—for was not the property value of every resident whose street the Borough paved likewise enhanced? The paving of two-thirds of our streets was done by bond issue with a population and taxable property less than one-half of what we have today! Why, then, does not the Borough continue its policy and issue bonds for paving of the remaining one-third of the streets on the Borough map in order and at the time when the need is manifest and imperative, and especially is this now the only sane, just and fair course of action for the Borough to follow since it now has more than double its former taxable property and corresponding financial resources.

The policy championed by the Editor is an injustice to every resident living on unpaved streets and a discrimination in favor of those whose streets the Borough paved and, we are sure, an advantage that those residents themselves are not asking for, nor desiring.

PAY PAYER

Mr. Donald Hoffman returned home from Dartmouth College for the Easter season.

THE TUT CRAZE

Get ready, people; the foxy manufacturers are preparing to spring hundreds of King Tut fad articles on you.

One of the big tobacco companies is about to market the Tutankhamen cigarette. A New York firm has placed a rush order with a pottery factory to turn out hundreds of thousands of "Tut pups," good luck statues like the Biliken. These are supposed to be reproductions of the Egyptian "houn' dawg" that followed old man Tut around the royal palace.

In Washington the patent office is expecting a deluge of applications from manufacturers who want to use Tut's name on their wares, with trademark protection. One has applied for such marks in 15 industries—bathing suits, music, clothing, dolls, umbrellas and so on. A King Tut novel is being ground out.

Bobbed hair was going out of style when Tut's tomb was discovered; now hairdressers say bobbed locks may rule for another year or two as part of the King Tut fashions.

Among the rich and royal ladies of Tut's time, the headdress was a masterpiece that must have required weeks of work, elaborate and fantastic, hair and jewelry forming large wings on top of the head. The high steppers and flashy dressers stung their hair through beads, giving the effect of a crop of necklaces growing out of the skull. Keep your eyes open. Some in our community will try it.

Girls who have been plucking their eyebrows into straight lines, with tweezers, will be glad to learn that such was the style in King Tut's day. When it came to gowns, the most daring Egyptian social leaders wore garments made entirely of transparent beads. Starched and carefully pressed ruffles and pleats were the rage in Cairo and other Egyptian cities 2500 years or so ago.

Jewelry was worn extravagantly and profusely, not to say flunty. Fans were carried, also hand mirrors. Nails were stained with henna juice and loud perfumes and thick oils were rubbed over the body. A queer custom among the fashionable ancient ladies was painting a second crop of eyebrows below the eyes, so that the optics resembled sandwiches.

How much of this barbaric Oriental display will creep into the fashions of American women? Perhaps more than any of us now dream. Style designers are collecting at every museum housing Egyptian antiquities.

It's a great age we're living in. Study the impending Tut crazes and you'll learn a lot about infectious emotions, the mob spirit and our instinct of imitation which links us with the monkey.

BETTER NOT SAY IT!

Bad news travels faster than good news. There is an old saying, "No news is good news." Let a man be converted at a church service and there is not much of a stir, but let a resident be convicted of some crime and the news leaps by word of mouth from one end of the community to the other.

How thoughtlessly unkind we sometimes are when neighbors of ours suffer misfortune! Troubles are bound to come to us all in some shape or form, and what we say about our friends and acquaintances today may apply to us tomorrow. News is no respecter of persons.

We are prone to consider the ways of others not our ways when we should be watching our own step. What folks say of one another sometimes hurts more than anything they could have done. News, either good or bad, grows and becomes exaggerated and distorted with peddling. When the news is good it makes no material difference how it is exaggerated or distorted—it can never do anyone positive harm. But bad news, given wings, may bring sorrow and ruin upon people who certainly are not deserving of a punishment beyond the penalty of their mistake.

More charity for others will mean more charity for ourselves, and we will gradually come to take a keener delight in reporting something good of some person than something bad. Good is constructive, bad is destructive. Just before you are about to let out a bit of "bad news," stop and think a moment. See if you can't think of something good to say in place of it. The chances are ten to one that you can and that you will.

THE TOWER OF BABBLE

By Collum Righter

In matters of verse we are considered a good tennis player. Our reputation has been at stake since last Saturday when the pages of this paper were made lambent by those immortal lines entitled To An Incense Burner. Proud of the record of our craft we assert the Union must and shall be preserved. We refer to The Poet's Union. And Jeff, "For the love of Mike, use discretion!"

TO A RUBBISH BURNER

Hail, sheet-iron cylinder with holes bedrilled!
Each Saturday at three art thou well filled
With broken boxes in which cereal came—

With bustled hair-nets—rubbish without name.
A match is touched to thy legged base
And soon thy ashes blow most every place.

But thou wast made not in the days of yore,
Thou cam'st, in truth, from Bergner's Hardware Store.

There was satisfaction, plus, in learning our Column immediately before to day's, tickled the Printing Office. This thing, though, is not done to please any particular person or persons, we'd have it known. We do it for the plea sure derived therefrom and then again it is a top-hole way to waste an hour or so every week during which we ought no doubt be spreading varnish in some pretzel words.

When Sidney Lanier was in his prime he once queried poetically "Where's he that craftily hath said, the day of Chivalry is dead?" Ha! We boldly hoist our hand to the question thereby assuming complete responsibility for the statement. Chivalry is as dead as a selected egg. It does not exist. We have said this before many times, and it still bears the constant hammering drum of merciless repetition.

By way of illustration, the other afternoon we were standing at the famous Sixty-third Street corner (where our flapper friend met us last summer) waiting for the Marion and Ballabus. This orthography is not ours. We copied it from the panel of the ten-ton vehicle which is part of the Narberth fleet. The crossing semaphore signed "clear" and across Lancaster Avenue like a sinning soul bound for Styxville came an automobile piloted by a blonde card-board baron from Haverford Lane.

Made he the stop? Non! Did he unser vistle gehear yet? Nichts! He noa see dese bigga du bundillo? We bringa from dese groceria Americano? Well, we cannot say whether he saw our bundle of groceries or not. Knowing him as we have for years, we never could accuse him of missing anything worth an eyeful. Still—the baron ought to have full benefit of any doubt on that score so we hereby give it to 'im gratis. Even so, Chivalry is dead and buried. We wish we had been wearing our boot-leg badge.

That boy can play the flute though, we'll notify the Universe. He has got to have full credit for it too. Such an accomplishment is not to be lightly sneezed at. Of course everybody here recalls part of "The Symphony" where Lanier's lines read:

"When Nature from her far-off glen
Flutes her soft messages to men
The flute can say them o'er again."

And so it can. There is no room for an aye, a yes or a no in the matter. We have heard the samuelistic flute say many messages in the past. They were bright—some of them. Others were pulsing notes of sadness that came straight from the player's heart. Our friend who reads goes into raptures of delight over the beautiful things he has gotten out of a book by Llewelyn Powys called "Ebony and Ivory." As for us we have not read it. The friend may have gotten all he says out of it but we question whether more permanent things have not been given the world by the little flute of "ebony and ivory" owned by the blond card-board baron of Haverford Lane.

The business of segregating our local industries in our humble estimation nothing by a jugful but eighteen carats at bucheque. We would advocate a store on every corner. Nothing would suit us better than to have three sweet shops to each block. The pinnacle of Borough perfection won't be reached until seventeen more Chain Grocery Emporiums throw wide their doors. We do not care a rap if these latter are American, Yiddish, Ticklish, Sweddish, or Lettish as long as their doors are thrown wide. Give industry all the rope necessary. Ha! Ha! Let 'er 'ang 'erself! Put Trade before everything else. The deuce with sentiment and also the same deuce with most things in general if there isn't any profit to be made out of 'em. Move out if you don't like it! To the four winds of Heaven with all judgment. Pile in four or five more of the same sort of enterprises that we have here now and watch the results. There won't be any. To quote Hon. Jeff, "For the love of Mike, use discretion!"

While we do not know his name we shall nevertheless always reserve ample respect for the South Side resident who, rather than "ruthlessly cut down its hundred of years" built his house around that glorious old tree instead. The World would be a better place in which to live were there always such a love and reverence for

"Each no-tongued tree
That spring by spring, doth nobler be,
And dumbly and most wistfully
His mighty prayerful arms outspreads
And his big blessings downward sheds."

SEVENTEEN ALARMS
The Narberth Fire Company has been called out seventeen times in the past ten days, mostly for grass and brush fires.

On March 29th the fire fighters extinguished a fire in Gibson's woods, which require the laying of over 2,000 feet of hose. The flames were threatening the house, and a long struggle was necessary to put out the fire. On the following two days three field fires were extinguished, two of which threatened houses.
Four fires were extinguished on Easter day. In the morning a call was answered from State Road, Cynwyd, for a field fire, and in the afternoon the company was called to the home of Dr. Joseph M. Gerhart, on Bangor Road, Cynwyd. The second floor and roof of the house were in flames, and because of the fact that the Cynwyd company had been out of commission, the fire had gained considerable headway before the arrival of the Narberth engines. The fire was under control in a short time, but only after considerable damage had been done. Two more field fires completed the day's work.

During the rest of the current week a decreasing number of field fires have been answered, although over the weekend it seemed that the siren scarcely had time to regain its breath between calls.

The company has made an appeal that residents be more careful in burning over grass plots, and that travelers through the woods refrain from throwing matches and cigarette butts on the ground unextinguished. These small fires, of great potential danger, require a big loss of time on the part of the fire-fighters, and in most cases are unnecessary.

A Generous Gift
A man who recently learned that our Narberth fire-eaters were a volunteer organization, and was told of their remarkable record in the handling of fires all over the lower Main Line, has just sent a check for $500 to the company.

This gift will aid materially in the work of the organization. It is urgently requested that residents of Narberth maintain their support of the company more regularly. The membership fee is $3.00 per year, which small sum is the only request made of the people of Narberth. For this the property owners get complete and enthusiastic fire protection, which is so excellent that there has never been a really big fire loss in the history of the Borough of Narberth.

"Our Town," in company with many other organizations and individuals of Narberth, is proud of the work of this group of volunteers. In the near future, we hope to prepare an article on the history and work of the Narberth Fire Company, both as a matter of public interest, and to aid in a 100% membership record for the Borough.

TRADE AT HOME
Communities grow in proportion to the support given them by their residents. You cannot boost Narberth by trading elsewhere or placing business in other localities that could be placed at home.

Polks who try to save pennies often-times lose dollars. The home merchant is generally honest and offers honest values for your money. He can't afford to be otherwise. He depends for his living from the community and must give the community what it wants at a fair price.

When you are tempted to trade outside and purchase "just as good merchandise at greatly reduced prices," you should think twice before buying. If you are "stung" by your home merchant he will no doubt be glad to make an adjustment. The out-of-town merchant is not personally interested in you. He is intent on selling you this once and probably does not expect to sell you again. He does not have to take great care in preserving your good will.

More than owing it to your community to trade at home, thus keeping your money at home, you should give the home merchant first opportunity to serve you, from a sound economic standpoint.

Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Krauskop and their daughters Betty and Mary-Alice, of Merion Avenue, spent the Easter Holidays in Lancaster Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Jones and their son, of the Avon Apartments, have left for Asbury Park N. J., where they expect to make their home.

Mr. B. O. Sharpe, of Montgomery Ave., left this week for Pittsburgh, Pa. He will be joined later by Mrs. Sharpe and their children.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. McCracken and Misses Anna and Helen McCracken, all of Merion Avenue spent the Easter Holidays at their farm in Indiana County, Pa.

BOOKS INSTEAD OF REFRESHMENTS

Local Card Club's Gift to the Library—Death Removes a Constant Contributor

A local card club decided to dispense with refreshments during their Lenten meetings and give the money thus saved to the Community Library. As a result an appreciable sum was handed to the librarian last week for the purchase of books.

It is by just such active support as this that the Library continues to grow. The women to whom the Library is indebted for this gift are: Miss Bird Roberts, Miss Anna MacKeag, Mrs. Charles Kreamer, Mrs. A. P. Redifer and Mrs. John Gilroy.

The Community Library owes a permanent debt of gratitude to Mr. William Livingston whose sudden death shocked and saddened the entire community this week. When the Library launched itself uninvited upon the Borough, with only 18 books to rely upon, Mr. Livingston was immediately interested. He was the Library's first patron, outside of the Women's Community Club membership, and, what was more valuable at that time, he immediately made the Library a gift of 20 volumes of recent and good fiction. These books began to circulate at 10 cents a week and furnished a greatly increased revenue at a time when every dime was of great moment. In fact, many of those books are still in active circulation, some of them now on the free list, but all are adding constantly to the service and satisfaction which the Library is able to give to the Borough.

Mr. Livingston's interest in the Library never waned. He was unfailing in his cordial and enthusiastically helpful support and approval of each new step in the growth. He was a regular reader of the best books in the Library's collection and a frequent contributor of new volumes which he had bought to read while on his business trips. A lover of good reading, it gave him great pleasure to be able to contribute to the similar taste of his fellow townsmen by means of the Community Library. Many Narberth people for a long time to come will be unconscious beneficiaries of this man's kindly impulse, good reading judgment and unfailing support of the Library.

NARBERTH LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. H. L. Schwartz, of Wynnewood, will address the April meeting of the Narberth League, reviewing some of the more recent legislation, particularly the law enforcement act.

The meeting will be held on Monday, April 9, 3 P. M., at the home of Mrs. Tristan B. DuMarais, corner Essex and Woodside. Members please bring a guest with you.

The League has been deputized by the local assessor to do the customary house to house canvassing for the purpose of bringing his books up to date, and members of the League will soon start this work.

Final information will be given at the meeting on Monday next.

All canvassers are particularly urged to be present.

Montgomery County League

Below will be found the program as arranged for the County Meeting, Thursday, April 19, at 12.30 o'clock noon, at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, Pa.

Greetings—Mrs. George Vaux, Jr., chairman Hospitality Committee.

The County—Miss Gertrude Ely, Chairman, Montgomery County League of Women Voters.

Address—Miss Ruth Morgan, Chairman on International Co-operation to Prevent War, National League of Women Voters.

The Next War—Mr. Will Irwin.

The National League of Women Voters, Its Plans and Ambitions—Mrs. Louis Slade, Chairman, New York State League of Women Voters.

The program committee has been particularly fortunate in procuring these speakers, and Mr. Irwin says this will be his "swan song," as his managers are opposed to his again appearing on the platform. Members who have not made their luncheon reservation should do so at once, sending check for $1.25 to headquarters, 1212 Locust Street.

THE COMMUNITY CLUB

The Women of the Community Club forgot that they were a group of modern women of the twentieth century on Tuesday afternoon, and traveled back some thousands of years, while they listened for an hour to Miss M. Antonia Lamb talk on "The Needlework of Antiquity." Miss Lamb is a Fellow of the Royal Society of the Anthropological Institute of Great Britain and Ireland and knows her subject better than any other living woman.

She discussed with the aid of lantern slides, needlework from the very dawn of history, as far back as four hundred years before U. of the Chal-dees, spoken of in Genesis. Primeval man first used the needle when forced to protect his body from the cold by lacing the skins of animals together, with a needle made of polished bone, threaded with sinews of the animal itself. As early as 11 B. C. the use of the safety pin was known as a most valuable article of apparel—indeed the lantern slide showed its shape to be a near relative to our present day pin.

From Mesopotamia to Peru, Miss Lamb left nothing out in her exceedingly interesting discussion of the beautiful art of Ancient Embroidery and weaving that the entire world is so keenly interested in at present.

Mrs. Willis E. Blodgett gave a very comprehensive report on the Monday Conference which Dr. Ellen C. Potter had addressed and emphasized the great need of a child Welfare Bureau in Pennsylvania to check the slavery of the children of this State who are still "bonded out," and also to check indiscriminate charitable institutions of which there are over four hundred in Pennsylvania. Dr. Potter strongly advocates increasing the number of parole officers for the juvenile criminals of this State.

Mrs. Laura Lansing, accompanied by Mr. Jack Spratt, sang two solos, "Dedication," and "Mexican Folk Song," by Frank La Forge. Mrs. W. M. Sibbey and her committee served tea after the meeting.

NEW ROOMS

Rooms have been taken in a new building on the corner of Lancaster Avenue and New Street, Bryn Mawr, for the Conestoga Clinic which will be ready to be occupied by May 1, 1923.

The clinic of Conestoga will continue until then on Tuesdays at two o'clock at the old Conestoga Center.

In Ardmore, the Child Welfare Clinic, discontinued during the winter months, will reopen on Monday, April 9th, at two o'clock, at the Red Cross Health Center, 53 West Lancaster Ave., Ardmore. The clinics held on Thursdays will continue as before.

The clinics are held for the benefit of children up to school age, and all are welcome. A physical examination by the attending physician is given, and the child's weight and progress is recorded on a chart.

Come regularly to the clinic and keep the well babies well.

RED CROSS MAKES APPEAL

An appeal for partly worn clothing to distribute among ex-servicemen and their families has been issued to the public and to the Red Cross workers in the auxiliaries and branches of Philadelphia, Bucks, Delaware, Montgomery and Chester Counties which comprise the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The call was sent out yesterday by Mrs. Thomas Potter, Jr. chairman of the Workrooms' Department at Chapter headquarters 1610 Locust St., which, during the past year, has supplied clothing to hundreds of former fighting men and their wives and children.

"Attention is again called to the continued demand for clothing for ex-servicemen in hospitals, convalescent camps, and their homes," Mrs. Potter's appeal states. "There is special need for men's suits, shirts, shoes and bed-room slippers.

"In making this appeal for overcoats, suits, trousers, shirts, underwear, shoes, etc., as well as articles of clothing for the family, the S. E. Penna. Chapter of the Red Cross regards itself as the medium through which the public may express its interest in the men who served their country during the war. This supply of clothing means warmth and comfort for those who risked their lives for us. It is important that we keep on hand a supply of clothing which will be ready for any need that may arise."

Mrs. Potter directs her appeal especially to housewives who are about to begin spring housecleaning, and must necessarily discard accumulations of clothing. "Don't feed the moth; give your discarded clothing to ex-servicemen," is the slogan for the clothing drive. Persons living outside of Philadelphia desiring to help may communicate with the nearest Red Cross Branch or Chapter Headquarters, 1610 Locust St.

Contributions must be in good repair, absolutely clean and with all the buttons on. Another source of contribution is the people who, in spite of the fact that they will purchase new articles next season, pack away their heavy garments from the past winter in cedar chests or closets.

"It's just as easy to give to the cause now as later," the appeal urges. "Worn clothing is in constant demand for men sent to mountain hospitals with tuberculosis," Mrs. Potter explained. "Food, medicine and proper care can accomplish very little for a man inadequately equipped with suitable clothing. The first breath of cold weather redoubles the demand upon us, and we must have the co-operation of the public if we are to fill them all. The alternative is to let our former service men and their wives and children suffer for lack of wearing apparel that can be spared easily in many homes."

There was a gratifying response to the appeal which Mrs. Potter made last year, but the numerous demands by the Home Service Department have exhausted the quantities of warm, serviceable garments that were piled in the stockrooms.

The constant need for replenishing the outfit has necessitated more activity in the Workrooms' Department recently, and Mrs. Potter's report submitted yesterday to the Executive Committee showed that between February 24th and March 24th, 1281 yards of material had been cut and 1297 garments distributed to the workers. In that same period of time 1953 finished garments were returned by the workers to the Department, and the number given out in response to appeals totaled 2103. Of this quantity, 1743 were shipped to Athens, and 361 were used in the Chapter territory.

AN OLD PROVERB READS:

"Business goes where it is invited and stays where it is well treated."

When this Company started in the business of rendering a great public service to the community, it was in answer to a real demand. The capital which we have invested here has brought to our fellow-citizens untold comfort and convenience. But we want to be of more and more service all the time. Your continued encouragement will help us to fulfill this desire.

Men!

Do You Know That—

The cost per day of perfect hot water service is not more than the price of a good cigar. Exactly that. For fifteen cents you can furnish the average family of four persons with ample hot water if you have a modern gas water heater. No fuss—no work or worry for the women-folks.

Why worry about using a coal stove with its dirt, dust, ashes and uncertainty? Hot water service eliminates all that. For the sake of the comfort of your family come in and see a demonstration of hot water service.
